

V.V.A.A. National Presidents Notes

July 2015

On the 23/24 July I spent time with the VVAA Queensland branch executive at Remembrance House Burpengary.

There is still discussion regarding the future of Remembrance House and the discussions revolved around the most appropriate way to resolve the differences of opinion within the Queensland sub branches.

In my mind the decision of the majority should be accepted by the minority or, rather than continuing with what could be unsustainable opposition, alternatively opposing individuals should consider other pathways to provide the services to their communities they see as necessary.

I have continued my involvement in the Future of Advocacy working party that is now considering a blueprint to be put to the veteran community through the Ex-Service Round Table (ESORT) that meet in late August.

.....

The VVAA National Secretary, Graham Anderson is on leave until September and I have been filling that role particularly in distributing information to the executive and states, thankfully this is a quiet time of the year or at least quieter than some other times.
